

www.TSFEE.com

Course Title: BPI MULTI FAMILY BUILDING ANALYST CERTIFICATION TRAINING

Length: 4 days Classroom

Description: BPI Multifamily Building Analyst professional certification takes BPI’s “House as a System” approach to residential energy analysis and applies it to Multi-Family residences. The class teaches the proper procedures and diagnostics that are required to analyze the energy usage, energy losses and potential energy savings of retrofits for apartment buildings, high rise buildings, assisted living and other types of multi family living structures.

Prerequisite: While a review of BPI Building Analyst concepts are included in this class it is intended for those with BPI certified Building Analyst certification.

Upon completion of this course, the student will have a working understanding of:

Classroom portion of BPI/Multi Family Building Analyst training to include:

- Utility Usage calculations
- Energy Modeling & Economic Analysis
- Inspection criteria and diagnostic procedures
- Lighting System evaluation
- Blueprint Evaluation
- Identifying potential thermal bridges
- Site visit Inspection process
- Identification of Mechanical Systems. (Boilers, A/C, pumps, fans, emergency generators, & elevator motors)
- Understanding of Energy Management Controls and control settings and sequences.

Program Also Includes:

- All course materials
- Quizzes and review
- 15 hours of classroom training
- 7.5 hours of field training
- BPI Multi Family Analyst 2-hour proctored written exam
- BPI Multi Family Analyst 2-hour computer “Field” exam

Tuition:

$1,800.00, Full payment due at registration. Price for courses held at The School for Energy Efficiency.

CLASS DATES

To review our calendar of upcoming classes, CALENDAR at www.tsfee.com Call Mark Schappert mschappert@wessonenergy.com 203-759-3800 Ext. 5054 for information or next class dates.